2022 CONCILIO GRENACHE

REVIEWS

94 points, Dave Brookes, Wine Companion, 4th February 2024

A juicy, easy-drinking style; 86% grenache with a bit of whole bunch and 14% shiraz from Marananga, nicely composed and sympatico in their natures, showing pure, savoury red cherry and dark berry fruits dusted with gingery spice and hints of ginger cake, citrus blossom, dried meats and earth. Dusty, airy tannins and a bit of crunch to the acidity. They've really nailed it this year in the drinkability stakes.

Slurpy, soft and easy drinking style with fresh, dark berry and cherry fruitiness writ large all dusted with sweet spice, choc-mint and green pepper. It's largely about juiciness but fine, dusty tannins do play a textural role. It feels vibrant, lively, and despite that good with concentration and depth. It sets out to achieve drinkability and nails it.

Vibrant ruby red colour, blackberry, briar and dark earth aromatics. Soft and supple on the palate, has a richness of dark fruit but also lifting spices and a hint of acidity adding freshness. Carries good length and is remarkable in its meshing at such a youthful stage.
